Can't prepare for
peace & war

To prepare for war
is to prepare to
intimidate / terrify
and to limit damage, ("civil" if possible)
which creates quiet
occasions (crises),
and creates incidents

to prompt (if
material of any capabilities) or
launch punitive
war* (give prospects
of winning, or of superior cap.)
and sustain public
attitudes toward enemy
and toward war as instrument (of security & D-U) that encourages

(also, both ideology
and activities inspire
fear in many, and
support many's
hopes, to encourage them to build nations
or nations [not, just
"sufficiently different" — as under K — once they have sufficient resources.
